

VENDING

Untapped revenue opportunities often exist in hospital's vending operations. Soriant Healthcare has worked with numerous institutions across the country to help reduce costs, improve quality and renegotiate vending contracts to increase revenue. We consistently find significant additional revenue opportunities for hospitals, as this area is often an overlooked opportunity.

New technology plays a role in helping ensure that hospitals are receiving appropriate commissions and vending stock is being replenished efficiently. Other factors like energy efficiency and ease of vending purchases help boost hospital bottom lines. Vending services are often undervalued and offer excellent opportunities for hospitals to increase revenue and improve the patient experience.
